CAMERA ADDITIONS

The Sims 4 Moschino Stuff adds new features and options to the already existing camera system. These new features are exclusive to the stuff pack and not available otherwise.

One of the features immediately visible is the all new Pose Options. The left hand side of camera mode now features a posing section for Sims to pick and choose any available pose category, with each category having a minimum of 3 different poses.

The following pose categories are now available in camera mode:

- Default (Shuffles through all categories)
- Excited
- Goofy
- Fashion
- Flirty
- Thoughtful
- Relaxed
- Sad

The pose options are available when taking photos of Sims with or without Subject Marks, but offer even more options when using the “Take Picture Of” interaction on the tripod with multiple Sims. Poses are most useful for Sims in the Fashion Photography Career as the career tasks usually involve photographing subjects in specific poses, but this is also useful for players who want family photos as well.

- The “Take Picture of” option available with the tripod is not to be confused with the “Take Photo of” option on a camera. The latter does not allow multiple Sims to pose together in camera mode, while the former does.
- Sims will either pose together in frame using separate poses, or will move into place together and use the special “couples” poses where they touch each other as well.

This leads us into the next new feature with Moschino: Posing Together. Taking a Picture of two Sims via the tripod will unlock the additional poses where Sims pose together, rather than separately posing within the same frame. These photos result in Sims staring at each other, Sims touching each other, and other poses that make the photo feel more intimate.

FASHION PHOTOGRAPHER CAREER

The Sims 4 Moschino Stuff adds to the already existing freelance options with the all new Freelance Photographer Career Branch. To find this new career select “Freelancer” from the careers options panel. Once selected, Sims are given an option for the Freelance Agency they want to work with. For Fashion Photographer, choose “Tomorrow’s Style”.

- Tomorrow’s Style - Tomorrow’s Style represents and gets you the fashion shoots you need. Sure, you might get stuck with a department store catalog, but work hard and you might shoot the next high fashion collection worn by celebrities at the Starlight Accolades.

Hire photo subjects, select the clothes, set the subjects in the appropriate poses, and capture the magic. Build a home photo studio, or take your camera and tripod on location to get the best shots. Don’t forget to self-promote by uploading your photos to Fashion Simstagram.

FASHION PHOTOGRAPHER CAREER

Once Sims have chosen to work as Freelance Fashion Photographers, they can find and manage gigs from their career panel. To select a gig, click the clipboard icon in the top right of the career panel, use a computer, or a Sim's cell phone.

The “Gig” menu will list the available jobs available along with the required Photography Skill level. Sims can only choose gigs that meet the required photography skill level, and gigs will change daily.

After a gig is chosen, Sims will need to recruit a fashion subject. The easiest way to do this with the Fashion Studio Subject Mark. Sims can use the “Hire Fashion Subject ($100)” to bring over a random Sim, or use the “Ask to Pose...” interaction and select household or nearby Sims.

FASHION PHOTOGRAPHER CAREER

Gigs will have different requirements based on the Client's needs, and tasks will be listed in the career panel. Fashion Gigs typically involve a specific outfit style or type of pose. As an example, a client might want a Sim to take a photo of another Sim in Formal Wear. To change the subject into the appropriate attire, click on them and select "Ask to Change Outfit". They will then change into whatever that Sim's default attire is for that outfit style.

Sometimes the default outfit choices for Sims can be interesting to say the least, so it is good that Sims can plan a subject's outfit. Click on the subject and choose "Plan Outfits for Fashion Subject", and this will take you into Create-a-Sim where you can change their hair, clothing and accessories.

- Be sure to alter the subject's formal wear option if you are working on a requirement for Formal Wear. If you set their everyday option to Formal Wear it will not meet the requirement. All you have done is given them a fancy everyday look.

FASHION PHOTOGRAPHER CAREER

Aside from clothing stipulations, clients might also request a specific type of pose. This is done using the new “Poses” feature when taking photos. In picture mode there’s a set of eight icons along the left side of the panel called “Pose Options”. This allows Sims to choose a special pose for the subject they are photographing. The following pose categories are available with Moschino Stuff: Default, Flirty, Goofy, Fashion, Thoughtful, Sad, Relaxed and Excited. The icon above these style options is the “Change Pose” button. Use this to shuffle through poses.

Each pose style has at minimum 3 different pose options to shuffle through. If a gig task asks for a Sim to photograph a subject in a “Thoughtful Pose”, select the Thoughtful Icon then click on the Change Pose icon until you find a sufficient pose. Sims can then make other adjustments with zoom or photo orientation before finalizing the photo.

Photos are found in a Sim’s inventory. If they are done with the subject, simply ask them to leave. The next step of any gig is usually to get the photo approved. Select a photo from a Sim’s inventory, choose “Freelancer”, then click “Submit Photo For Client’s Approval.” This will send the photo to the Client and a notification will appear shortly after to let the Sim know whether or not the photo has been rejected or approved. High quality photos that meet the requirements will usually come back approved. If the photo is rejected, try again with a different photo.

FASHION PHOTOGRAPHER CAREER

In some cases, Sims will have an additional task before or after receiving photo approval. One of the more frequent tasks is to post a photo to “Fashion Simstagram”. Once a photo is approved by the client a notification will appear stating that the photo should be delivered by mail in 1-2 days. Once the mail carrier drops something off, click the mailbox to pick up the approved photo. The photo will automatically return to the Sim’s inventory.

- With the photo still in a Sim’s inventory, go to a computer and select the Freelancer option to Fashion Simstagram. Once a gig is complete, Sims can select a new gig.
- Cancelling a gig is as simple as clicking the trash can icon in the career panel, but keep in mind that canceling a gig or not finishing it before the due date will have a negative impact on your job performance.

Job Performance is important as it will yield rewards and new social interactions. Sims can “Discuss Fashion Blogging”, “Discuss Fashion Trends”, and “Show Off Photos” with other Sims, and will unlock career rewards for superb performance.

Sims will receive the Supreme Freelancer Award ($500) the first time they max their performance meter in any trade within the Freelance Career, and will also receive the Moschino exclusive ClickShot P10 Mirrorless Camera ($2,300) the first time they max their performance meter as a Freelance Fashion Photographer.

DIGITAL FRAMES

Digital Frames are a new type of photo storage object that allows Sims to store multiple photos and choose the rotation frequency at which they display. There are two types of digital frames available in buy mode: Landscape and Portrait. Regardless of how many of each are placed on a wall, each orientation shares the same inventory.

The following options are available with the Digital Frames:

- Manage Photo Inventory — Opens the inventory panel so photos can be added
- Turn On/Off — Additional frames will need to be turned on/off separately
- Firaxium Wiring Upgrade — At level 9 Handiness, this makes the screen unbreakable
- View — Sims will take a look at the photos
- Adjust Speed — These options allows you to individually set the rotation time of digital frames.

The speed adjustment times are 1, 3, 6, 12, and 24 hours.

Speed adjustments come to good use when storing photos in digital frames of the same orientation. Being that they share the same inventory, setting the speed of rotation allows photos of the same inventory to display at a different time.
